dear church,

Why do we often have the desire to know what we don't know rather than to trust what we do know? Is curiosity morally neutral, right, or wrong? Is curiosity equal to cognitive gluttony or obsessive learning?

Adam and Eve wanted to know more than God had for them, rather than fully understanding what God had for them. They (and we) can explore every good thing God has given us, enjoying the breathtaking beauty of a mountain, the overwhelming flavors of fresh fruits from the farm, or the quiet reflection of a gentle creek at dusk. All these things are wonderfully created by God while the pinnacle of creation is humans. Explore the goodness of God all around you in His entire creation and go to His Word to understand what you see and how to interact with what you see. That level of curiosity will drive you to worship God.

But, there are certain things outside of the bounds of our knowledge or discernment. It is not for us to know what God knows, for He alone is God. It is not for us to dabble in the ways of Satan, for our minds are taken captive by God alone. Our minds should be so enthralled with a word from the pastor

God's Word that when our curiosity leads us to go outside the bounds of His good—yet limited—creation, we understand and choose what is good for us. Take for instance the overwhelming pursuit of many to try and know when Jesus will return yet God has put clear boundary markers on the capacity to know when (Matthew 24:36). Rather than trusting God will come, many would rather know when God will come, likely because of the intellectual pride it will bring. This is when cognitive gluttony or intellectual pride causes the “Adams” to take the fruit.

Wisdom creates curiosity boundaries.

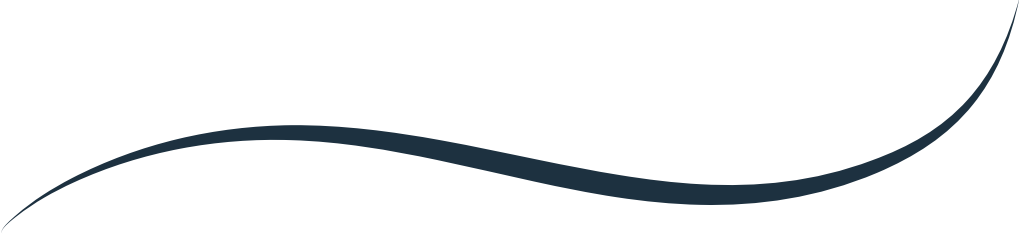

I would challenge us to see wisdom as the beginning of knowledge, not the other way around (Proverbs 1:7). When we do, we will better operate within our appropriate and helpful boundaries of curiosity. Having wisdom and discernment helps us to function like the Bereans, who examined the scriptures daily (Acts 17:11). It also prevents us from running wild with intellect to the point of arrogance and letting knowledge flow to love rather than harm (1 Corinthians 8:1, Jeremiah 9:23).

God has created a wonderful place for us to learn and explore. We have the opportunity to discover findings that could help our world function as God intended. Our technology, healthcare, humanities, and others should pursue good for humans and point to the glory of God. If you are going to learn, let wisdom and discernment guide you because not every ‘fruit’ is good for life.

If our hearts unite in living within the boundaries of intellectual pursuit, and the revealed truth of God through His Word, with the help of the Spirit, we will find God's Will and live in contentment with the wisdom and discernment it offers to glorify God in this World.

That is my prayer for us in the age of cognitive gluttony, rampant prophecies, overconsumption of the internet and social media, and the ever-present attack of Satan on truth; holy resistance.

Grace and peace,
Dr. Matthew S. McMillan
Lead Pastor

Biblical Counseling

What is Biblical Counseling and what do we offer?

Biblical Counseling is taking what is going on in your life; sin or suffering and filtering it through God's Word (2nd Timothy 3:16-17). Lead by the Holy Spirit we do this face to face (1st Thessalonians 2:8), speaking truth in love (Ephesians 4:15) as we equip and build up the saints (Ephesians 4:12), to live victorious lives and live out their calling as ambassadors of Jesus Christ (2nd Corinthians 5:20) - all for God's Glory. This is a ministry of Westminster Baptist Church, and our services are free to you. As part of your discipleship ministry at WBC, we offer you short-term soul care and spiritual direction as you go through the process of restoration.

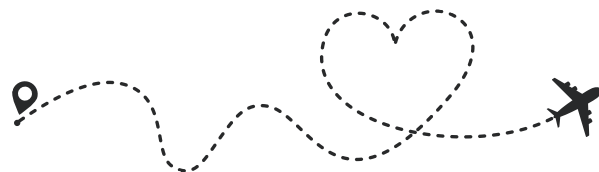

Plain and simple - all of us are on a sanctification journey. On that journey there are times that either a sin issue or some deep hurt and pain has you stuck where you are. You are not sure what is going on and you feel you want some extra help. We have trained Lay Counselors ready to help you "unpack" what is going on. We will ask you questions to understand what is going on. We will listen with a discerning heart. We will then minister God's Word to you as we lead you back to the love of your savior. We will do our best to love you well and speak truth.

Currently, we have 6 counselors here to help you with 5 counselors in training. If you would like some help, the process starts with you reaching out to counsel@discoverwbc.com and someone will get back to you with next steps. We are here to help and in the meantime would the God of all comfort, comfort you in whatever season you are in.

GLOBAL MISSIONS DOMINICAN REPUBLIC

Our adult mission team is preparing to serve and share the gospel in the Dominican Republic in August to serve the impoverished communities with food distribution and sharing hope. Please lift them up in prayer! Ask God for strength, unity, servant hearts, and divine appointments. Pray that lives will be changed—both those they encounter and their own. Thank you for partnering with us in prayer!

Next Team Meeting: July 20

If you have any questions, please reach out to Scott Pierson at scott@discoverwbc.com.

“Go into all the world and proclaim the gospel to the whole creation.”
*Mark 16:15

“We no longer believe because of what you said, since we have heard for ourselves and know that this really is the Savior of the world.” John 4:42

Please pray as our students attend MFUGE from June 30 to July 4 in Virginia Beach, VA. Pray for safe travels, open hearts, bold faith, and opportunities to share the love of Jesus. We believe God will work powerfully in and through them. Thank you for covering them in prayer on this wonderful mission.
